Excerpt from MISTLETOE RULES: Why is a beautiful girl like you sitting all alone under the mistletoe? Sue startled at the deep voice from directly in front of her. She jerked her attention upway upto meet the smiling face of a guy maybe a couple years older than her. Im not. Alone? he clarified, his eyebrows drawing together in a slight frown. No, beautiful. Pretty maybe, but beautiful is pushing it. Out loud she replied, Sitting under mistletoe. His gaze rose to a point above her head, and in the dim light, she tried to decipher if his eyes were light blue or gray. I beg to differ. Sue twisted in her seat to look. Nothingoh, wait, painted on the paper banner taped to the wall was a bundle of leaves that might pass for mistletoe. Her heart lurched for a moment, but she ignored the sensation and faced the guy again. All in the eye of the beholder. Tall, dark, and handsome immediately came to her minds eye looking at him. Unlike most of the other guys in their corduroy pants and wide-collared shirts, his black boots, faded jeans, and gray turtleneck sweater completed the attractive package before her. He studied her for a moment. So true. Well, I dont believe it is mistletoe. Feeling at a distinct disadvantage with him towering over her, Sue twisted her fingers in her gauzy, flower-print skirt. Standing seemed the obvious solution, but if she stood, theyd be much too close, and his self-assured stance warned her he wouldnt back down. You know what they say about mistletoe, dont you? he asked. No, what do they say? He grinned, revealing white teeth and a very cute set of dimples. Its bad luck to refuse a kiss. Good thing its not mistletoe, then. You really want to take that chance? ~~ To everything there is a season... Love finds a way during the four seasons in the Romancing Wisconsin Series.
